1. Rise in Love / By Siddharth Roy

A tender and poignant love story of two modern-day teenagers dealing with tough career choices, mysterious and grievous pasts and betrayal in love. A story of love in its most pure and raw form, at that age when one becomes conscious of attraction and infatuation, and there is a thin line between love and lust. A story about everlasting friendships, bold sacrifices and stepping into adulthood. Two strangers meet by chance, Adhira a young, gorgeous Mumbai girl, extremely career oriented and dealing with a tremendous personal loss and trying to find her self-worth meets Abhi, a young writer who dreams of changing the world with the might of his pen, fighting all odds to make a name for himself in a career of his choice. Sparks fly, but Adhira is in love with Shubham, the heartthrob of the school where they both study and Abhi doesn't want the complication of love. This story is their love story filled with doses of wry humour, profound feelings and raw human emotions laid bare by the souls of the protagonists. Adhira and Abhi embark on a journey of self-discovery and search for the true meaning of love in this light and refreshing take on teenage romance which will take the reader through a gamut of emotions in this unputdownable love story.

2. The Story of Indian MSMEs : Despair to Dawn of Hope / by

B. Yerram Raju

The Story of Indian MSMEs: Despair to Dawn of Hope unfolds the journey of the Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSME) sector, both in the policy front and implementation. Taking a distinct approach, the author emphatically states that people start enterprises and put their only dwelling house or other as collateral security, with the aim of earning profit and making a respectable living in society. This book particularly concentrates on the manufacturing micro and small enterprises and not the entire MSME sector. It advocates for the twin criteria of turnover and employment with specific thresholds for two reasons. First, the turnover definition enables several unorganised enterprises in the sector to come into the fold of organised. Second, it paves the way for increased direct and indirect employment opportunities. The book offers practical solutions to many issues confronting the policymakers, entrepreneurs and regulators. Dr B. Yerram Raju is a distinguished banker-turned economist and management consultant with five and half decades of multisector experience . He is currently the Adviser, Telangana Industrial Health Clinic Ltd, Government of Telangana. He was former Regional Director, PRMIA, Wilmington, De (Hyderabad Chapter) and also consultant on Cooperative Reforms in Banking and Cooperative Law. Raju was with the State Bank of India for nearly three decades. He has taught in various prestigious academic institutions like LBSNAA, ASCI, IDRBT, NIRD etc. He was Expert Member of two RBI committees on SMEs (2005) and Cooperatives (2012). He was also Member of the Jury for the Asia Pacific Bankers' Congress at Manila in 2004, and 2005 on SME sector. He was a short-term consultant on World Bank, GTZ, FNF, UNIDO and UNDP.

3. Internationalization of Higher Education in India / by Yeravdekar

Offering an in-depth analysis of internationalization of higher education in India, this book explains how the phenomenon plays itself out, how to put it into practice on the home turf, and to do it in a way that it is available to all instead of catering to a select few. It applies relevant theoretical contexts, presents an extensive range of facts and figures as substantiating evidence, and stacks up this knowledge against ground reality. With a sharp commentary on the state of affairs, the book argues that internationalization is the only way forward for India and policymakers, educationists, and academics must look towards other countries such as China and Brazil which have made a fruitful commitment to scale the global value chain by making internationalization of higher education a top agenda item.

4. Consciousness: Integrating Eastern and Western Perspectives / By Prem Sarang Satsangi

This unique volume brings together eastern and western perspectives on consciousness with essays from philosophers and scientists which emphasise different aspects of the integration. The overarching aim of this book is to provide direction toward integrating Eastern philosophical and religious practice with philosophies and science of Western culture, an aim that could be pivotal in understanding consciousness and its place in nature. A unifying approach is adopted to the study of consciousness, integrating the wisdom of the sages of the east, and the scientists of the west and the stupendous east-west integration that has been achieved is indeed a milestone. The book will appeal to the rapidly growing mass of scientists and students in this upcoming field, both in the east and west, as well as the general inquisitive reader. Courses in consciousness studies are being promoted in leading Universities all over the world. It will also interest the followers and adherents of Eastern Philosophy of Saints and Radhasoami Faith numbering in a few millions around the globe.

5. Spatial Information Technology for Sustainable Development Goals / By Dilip Kumar

This textbook aims to develop a scientific knowledge base on spatial information technology to communicate the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) among students, researchers, professionals and laymen. The book improves understanding of the spatial database and explains how to extract information from this for planning purposes.

To enhance the knowledge of geoscientists and environmentalists, the book describes the basic fundamental concepts to advance techniques for spatial data management and analysis and discusses the methodology. The Geographic Information System (GIS), remote sensing and Global Positioning System (GPS) are presented in an integrated manner for the planning of resources and infrastructure. The management of these systems is discussed in a very lucid way to develop the reader's skills. The proper procedure for map making and spatial analysis are included along with case studies to the reader. Where the first part of the book discusses the conceptual background, the second part deals with case studies using these applications in different disciplines. The presented case studies include land use, agriculture, flood, watershed characterization and infrastructure assessment for the Sustainable Development Goals.

7. Muslim Empowerment Reflections from Punjab and Haryana / By Shaik

Iftikhar Ahmed

Muslim are the largest among the religious minorities in India. Various commission reports and studies reveal that Muslims are less privileged in the field of literacy and education, industrial promotion, health sector and economic pursuits. Though the Government of India has taken up many initiatives to improve upon the issues relating to the social , economic and political status of India's Muslim minority, the ground realities differ. The present book is an attempt to evaluate these initiatives and highlight the issues hampering the growth and development of Muslim minority in Punjab and Haryana.
